READING

Once there was a king who told some of his workers to dig a pond. The pond was dug, the king said that one person from each household has to bring a glass of milk during the night and pour it into the pond. So the pond should be full of milk by the morning.

One man decided not to take the milk to the pond. He thought that since everyone would bring milk, he could just take a glass of water. Because it will be dark at night, no one will notice. So he went and poured the water into the pond. In the morning, the king came to visit the pond and to his surprise the pond was only filled with water! What had happened was that everyone was thinking like the other man that «I don't have to put the milk, someone else will do it».

Dear friends, when you have a responsibility, do not think that others will take care of it. Rather, it starts from you, if you don't do it, no one else will do it. So, change yourself and that will make a difference.
